

Jennifer Gray

Represented by The NWT Group

CarolynKane@NWTgroup.com

817-987-3600

<https://NWTgroup.com/client/jennifergray>

EXPERIENCE

CNN, Atlanta, GA

Meteorologist

2013 — Present

NBC, WTVJ, Miami, FL

Weekend Morning Show Meteorologist & Feature Reporter

2011 — 2013

- Deliver the weather and co-anchor two, one-hour shows for the Saturday and Sunday editions of South Florida Today
- Cover severe weather in the field, as well as floods and weather related stories
- Help produce two 30-minute hurricane specials that focused on hurricane preparedness and safety
- Fill-in meteorologist for the weekday morning shows and weekday evening shows as needed
- Report various stories through multimedia venues, including Internet, Facebook and Twitter; uploaded stories to YouTube.com, Facebook, Twitter and various other social networking medias

KTBS 3, Shreveport, LA

Morning Show Meteorologist & Feature Reporter

2009 — 2011

- Extensively covered three (3) tornado outbreaks, record heat waves, an ice storm and historic flooding in the Arklatex
- Weekday Meteorologist for Shreveport's #1 morning newscast as well as 30-minute severe weather specials
- Proudly covered Super Bowl XLIV in Miami, including live shots, events, late-breaking news stories as well as local and national weather reports throughout the week
- Delivered engaging and informative presentations to junior high and high schools regarding weather safety, the importance of attending school and how knowledge is power
- Conducted continuous workshops at Northwestern State University teaching students in TV presence and on the chroma wall, virtual sets, title cards and more

NBC, WTVJ, Miami, FL

Morning Show Meteorologist & Feature Reporter

2007 — 2009

- Covered devastating weather stories, including Hurricanes Ike and Gustav, and Tropical Storm Fay from Key West as well as reported live shots for MSNBC during Tropical Storm Fay
- Honored by reporting for the Weather Channel during several flooding events as well as live shots for Orlando, Washington DC, and Chicago
- Created and delivered impressive reports for special events, including the Miami Boat Show and the Food Network's Wine and Food Festival
- Covered Dwyane Wade's return from the Beijing Olympic games, Alonso Mourning's "Zo's Summer Groove," and interviewed sports stars such as Jason Taylor and Juan Pablo Montoya
- Regular guest on the most popular sports radio show, WQAM as a "Friday Morning Sports" guest as well as on Saturday mornings for a fishing show
- Shaped alluring stories on a myriad of subjects, including college entrance exams, professional football as well as sail fishing
- During tenure in Miami, became very involved within the community and active in Big Brothers Big Sisters of Broward, and was the Charter President for 6 Degrees—a young professionals organization that raises money to benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters
- Actively involved in the National Alliance for Thrombosis and Thrombophilia, helping raise awareness for blood clots, especially in young women; wrote articles for their publication and spoke at events, raising awareness
- Regularly presented at schools as well as city council meetings and hurricane readiness seminars
- Hosted many events and even participated and won 'Dancing With The Stars in Miami'

Affiliations

- AMS Seal of Approval from the American Meteorology Society
- Member of the National Weather Association
- Big Brothers Big Sisters
- Make-A-Wish Foundation of South Florida
- Life member of the Coastal Conservation Association
- Guy Harvey Ocean Foundation
- National Alliance for Thrombosis and Thrombophilia

Education

Mississippi State University; Mississippi B.S. in Geosciences, Broadcast Meteorology Program

Northwestern State University; Natchitoches, Louisiana B.A. in Broadcast Journalism, Minor in Spanish Estudio Sampere, NSU Study Abroad Program

Social Media

@JenniferGrayCNN
2.2K followers

@JenniferGrayCNN
11.8K followers

@JenniferGrayCNN
5.6K followers